

LAST EDITION

LAST EDITION

HERO WAVES ASIDE $1,000 CARNEGIE REWARD—
ANOTHER FIRM PULLS OFF THE FORD STUNT
—HIGH-TONED HOTELS FACE DAMAGE SUITS

THE DAY BOOK

An Adless Daily Newspaper.

N. D. Cochran,
Editor and Publisher.
500 South Peoria St.

Tel. Monroe 353.
Automatic 51-422.
By Mail, 50 Cents a Month.

VOL. 3, NO. 103

Chicago, Thursday, Jan. 29, 1914

ONE CENT

BIG BUSINESS MAKES ITS MEANEST MOVE AGAINST MINERS' FAMILIES

*Local Concern Takes Large Order for Wearing Apparel
To Be Shipped from Chicago to Sufferers at Calumet—Then at Last Minute They Call Order
Off While Intense Suffering Continues.*

On Christmas eve seventy-two children and eight adults, members of the families of the striking miners of Calumet, Mich., were crushed to death in a panic at the Italian Hall, in which a Christmas celebration was being held.

At that time there were many rumors in the air and also evidence offered to show that a man wearing a Citizens' Alliance badge had so sounded the cry of "fire" that started the panic.

A hand-picked grand jury, on which were nine men close to the Calumet & Hecla mine officials, would not take up these charges and the matter was dropped.

After the tragedy the union men announced that organized labor would take care of its dead, that it didn't need the assistance of their persecutors.

For making this assertion President Charles H. Moyer of the Western